“Faith Under Construction: Wrestlers and Doubters are Welcome Here”

In a recent Facebook post, Larissa Lee wrote: Deconstructing isn't a threat to God. God honours the wrestlers, the doubters, the honest. Deconstructing is a threat to the status quo, to power structures, to control mechanisms. And those things never back down quietly. Press on, dear questioners. It is not God who opposes you.

Join us at our Spring Gathering as we invite four church leaders who have undergone significant deconstruction and reconstruction of their faith to share with us their story, and to doubt and wrestle honestly with them toward a richer and fuller experience of God and a more robust faith.
